

The Highest Possible Award The Grand Prize for STAR Tobacco

LEADING BRAND OF THE WORLD

The Only Chewing Tobacco
That Ever Won
An International Exposition
Grand Prize

THE one supreme chewing tobacco at the San Francisco Exposition was STAR. So decided the International Jury of Award, selected from all parts of the world.

As the result of that decision, STAR received The Grand Prize—the highest award that the International Jury could give.

The same "superior quality" that won the Grand Prize for STAR, had won for it the highest regard of chewers for half a century.

STAR'S extra quality of mellow chewing leaf, STAR'S absolute cleanliness of manufacture, STAR'S full "one pound to the plug" weight, and reasonable price, long ago made it the world's largest selling brand of plug chewing tobacco.

Plenty of rain, mud and bad roads. The venerable John T. Dean is able again to walk around.

Some land sales recently may cause us to lose some of our best citizens as an other year comes on. Will tell you more about it later on.

Mrs. Roscoe Deane and Stephen Hammond went to lead Friday and returned Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Smith have been here from Portsmouth, Ohio where they say they like farm life best.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Queen visited his parents Sunday.

Rev. John Harvey and Tom Murphy passed through here Sunday evening from the M. P. Conference held at Straight Creek, Carter county.

Adla Johnson visited friends at Hampton Sunday. Some attraction, hey! Adla!

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutrient gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

preparing to sow rye for a cover crop and to add humus to the soil for next year's corn crop.

On last Sunday evening near Gelnwood Ben Haws was badly injured. He had been to the store and bought some tin cans for canning and put them on his mule and started leading his mule, the rattle of the cans frightened the mule and it jumped forward passing him but kicking him on the jaw near the point of the chin breaking out a number of his teeth and almost broke his neck.

He was unconscious for nearly an hour but is reported at this time to be resting fairly well. Drs. Ison and Thompson attended him.

The Fallsburg Regular, R. F. Rice, Kay Henson, Dock Rice, Charley Shannon, Amos Cordel Cocker, Hose, Alvin Short, John Cocker, Leo Crank with a string of pig tailers and rooters came out Saturday full uniforms to engage the Bantams in the last contest of the season here and won an easy victory.

Willie Cocker made enough bartering to furnish the team all the big watermelons it could eat.

CHAPMAN AND GALLUP

Bother T. L. Stotter, who has been our Pastor at this place for the past year shall be very much missed in our neighborhood but we realize it to be a fact that "duty" calls him elsewhere; and we as a Church trust that he shall always prove to be as true and loyal to the works of God in the future as he has been in our midst.

Brother Stotter has truly done a great work for our neighborhood.

He has organized an Epworth League regular meeting night Sunday 7:30 p. m. Indeed we are very proud of our League and would be pleased to have visitors.

Also Regular Bible Class meeting's on Tuesday night 7:30 p. m. Any one who wishes to acquire a knowledge to take up this study.

These things our brother has introduced to us and many and many other things which I could easily mention, but space won't permit.

Uncle George Brown of this place attended the Martin County Teachers Institute at Inez, Ky., while there Uncle George met with an event that we delight in telling.

The teachers divided into a spelling "B" and Uncle George was permitted to enter.

Along about the hour of Mid-night Uncle George was standing by himself; They collected the words from the old Blue backed speller and the late books of this date.

Uncle George can do many other things that would be quite a surprise to the young people. SKEDUNKS.

AUTO BLOWS UP.

Winchester, Ky., Aug. 28.—Several persons narrowly escaped death or serious injury when an automobile owned by Mr. O. C. Billiter blew up near the L. & N. railroad crossing on North Main street. The front end of the car is a complete wreck, the machinery having been blown to atoms.

Several pieces of iron were blow as far as the Union Station, more than a block from the scene of the accident, and iron is said to have fallen like rain on the roofs of a number of nearby grocery stores.

One large piece, a half of the fly wheel on the engine, was blown across the street and struck the brick wall of Mr. Dove Parker's home, making a large hole in it. Mrs. Parker was sitting by the window not more than a foot and a half from where the metal, weighing about twenty pounds, struck. She was badly frightened, but not injured.

Mr. Billiter is engineer at the county rock crusher, and was returning home from work. He was accompanied by his wife, who sat beside him in the car. When they came near the L. & N. crossing, Mr. Billiter noticed that his engine was working badly, and got out to see what the trouble was. He had been working with the car only a few minutes when the engine suddenly began making a loud rattling noise and the explosion followed. The fact that the mass of material was blown downward probably saved the lives of Mr. Billiter and his wife. They were enveloped in a cloud of dust and dirt and both were stunned by the shock.

Mr. W. T. Gilbert, who conducts a grocery store nearby, ran out and helped Mr. Billiter into the store. She was hardly able to speak from fright, but was found to be uninjured except for slight burns about the eyes. Mr. Billiter was not hurt. Several persons in the neighborhood were startled by the flying fragments of iron.

The cause of the explosion is unknown, but it is supposed that a quantity of gasoline accumulated under the hood and became ignited from the sparks of the engine. A witness says he saw a sheet of flame and smoke shoot out from the car as he heard the crash. The wrecked machine was taken in town and rolled to the Highland garage.

TRAIN WAITS WHILE CONSTABLE TAKES PRISONER.

The Greenup Ky. Republican says: "Constable Joe Eggers in capturing John Wilburn last Monday, charged with carrying a slug shot, assault on public highway and indicted for gambling, had about as exciting a chase as the ever cares to take again."

"Eggers got wind that Wilburn was in Lewis-co., way in the back part toward the Rowan-co. line, and according to his story, about as rough a country as he ever traveled in."

"He arrested his man and was coming to Greenup with him on one of the F. F. V. Limited passenger trains of the Kinkinick branch of the C. & O. Wilburn wanted a drink of water so the constable let him go to the end of the car to the water tank to get it. He got his drink and stepped out on the platform of the car, talking to other passengers. Joe's eyes glanced out of the car window to take a peep at the beautiful scenery along the route, and behold he saw his prisoner beating it up a mountainside. Joe ran to the door and did what his prisoner had just done—jumped right out, too—(Mind you the F. F. V. was running)—and caught the gentleman nearly at the top of the mountain."

"The train crew saw that Eggers had his man bested, stopped the train and waited their return."

"Wilburn was landed in jail here Tuesday night to await his trial and was arraigned before Judge Nichols Tuesday and pleaded guilty to the charges. He was bound over to the Circuit court and as he couldn't give bond, awaits trial in the county jail."

PARENTS APPLY RATTAN BY ORDER OF THE COURT.

The wholesome treatment prescribed by the Fayette County Judge is recommended to parents of unruly boys in this section. Its prompt use might save many a boy from the Reform School and the State much money.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 27.—The rattan or the Reform School was the choice given to-day by County Judge F. A. Bullock to the parents for a number of boys who were arraigned on various charges of bad behavior in the Juvenile Court. In many cases both the accused and their parents accepted the former horn of the dilemma, and as a result a back cell at the police station later resounded with the yells of the culprits, and the swish of the rattan, well laid on by the parents in compliance with the mandate of the law.

Said Judge Bullock in announcing his decision: "I don't want to send these children to the Reform School and I don't want to hold them at the Detention Home. Proper home correction is what is most needed. Now, if you fathers and mothers will take them down to the privacy of the police station and give them a powerful dressing down as the beginning of needed home discipline these charges will be fled away."

Rev. H. M. (Bud) Smith, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, at Montgomery, W. Va., went to Reevesville, last Sunday and dedicated a church before going to Clarksburg, W. Va., to attend the annual conference.

Clarence Callahan, aged thirteen years son of Mack Callahan of Russell, attempted to jump a train in the Russell yards and fell under the car wheel. Both of his legs were cut off about the knees. He condition was very grave this afternoon.
